

D E S C R I P T I V E A B S T R A C T

Process and system for the construction of an edition layout

~~The present invention has for its object a~~ A process for the construction of an edition layout comprised by at least one sheet in which is displayed at least one visual element, information relating to ~~said the~~ the layout being stored in a database in the identified fields interconnected by connections, a visual representation according to the reality of at least one portion of ~~said the~~ the edition layout being adapted to be displayed by ~~means of~~ at least one visualization ~~means device~~. ~~Process characterized in that it consists in providing said at~~ At least one display of a visual representation is provided in the form of a dynamic and interactive display permitting a modification by an intervener or user of the visual representation of the layout or a portion of the layout, ~~and in that it consists in providing an automatic control between said at least one the visualization means device~~ (9, 10) and the database (8) is provided.

~~Fig. 3~~